

ORCHESTRA CONDUCTORS

The orchestra conductors who have impressed me most in my professional trajectory do not impose but propose; they do not give orders but show trust; they do not overrule but convince...

SMILE Artistic Management aims to be both an agency and a meeting place for artists and people who are unique both onstage and behind the scenes. Precisely those people who offer musicians and sensitive people what they need, i.e. inspiration instead of instructions.